

The University of Miami Health System (UHealth) announced on February 3, 2014 that there was a breach of medical records in June 2013. The breach was confirmed back in August. The affected were patients of the Department of Otolaryngology. The delayed report exposes the University to harsh penalties under both Florida and Federal law. As a University of Miami Alum, I hope they carry data breach insurance.

For more on this, click here.

MCDONALD HOPKINS

Read More