

Breaking News on Energy Efficiency and Renewables Debate

ENERGY INSIGHTS | MAY 02, 2014

Today, Governor Kasich provided much anticipated feedback on Ohio Senate Bill 310, legislation which would freeze Ohio's energy efficiency and renewable energy standards. The standards have been opposed by various business groups and electric utilities, while garnering support from other business entities and environmental groups. The Columbus Dispatch is reporting that the Governor threatened to veto the bill in its current form at a meeting of the "Big Three", those being the Governor, Senate President Keith Faber and Speaker of the House Bill Batchelder.

Click here to view the article.

It is unclear what the immediate or long term affect of the Governor's actions may be on the fate of the bill. Stay tuned for future updates on this high profile piece of legislation.